— WHY TEAMS LOVE IT

Out of the conference room, onto the rails.

Most corporate outings (golfing sims, escape rooms, putt-putt, etc.) ask people to perform. A railbike ride just puts everyone side by side, outside, moving down the same track at their own pace — and the conversation takes care of itself. It's the rare team outing that works for the whole roster, from the marathoner to the person who'd rather ride shotgun and take in the view.

01

Everyone's outside

Open-air, high-plains views with the Front Range on the horizon. Fresh air does what a slide deck can't.

02

No forced fun

Pedal as hard or as easy as you like. Two to four per bike means natural pairings, not assigned trust falls.

03

Room for non-riders

Yard games, shaded seating, and a base camp mean people who sit out still feel part of the day.

— A DAY ON THE RAILS

ARRIVE & SETTLE IN

Check in, grab the space, warm up on the yard games — gaga ball, cornhole, foosball, and more.

EAT & MINGLE

Your caterer or spread is set up under the tents. Food, drinks, and easy conversation.

RIDE IN ROTATIONS

One group rolls out on a 90-minute ride while the other eats — then everyone swaps.

Smaller group (under 72 riders)? Everyone departs together, then returns for dinner or a scheduled program.

WIND DOWN

Regroup around the firepit as the sun drops behind the mountains.

GOOD CRISP COMPANY TEAM EVENT · MAY 2025

ALL 18 RAILBIKES — A FULL-GROUP DEPARTURE

ESTABLISHED 1871

You're riding a piece of Colorado history.

Our route follows the historic Denver, Boulder Valley line through Erie — Colorado's second-oldest tracks, laid in 1871 to move coal, grain, and people. Most team outings can't say that. We hand every group an Adventure Journal with the full story.
